

Jodie Mcnee

Dear Steve,

I am involved with the work of Act For Change and am writing to you to urge you set the minimum standards that BBC must reach to fulfil its diversity requirements under the charter.

For on screen diversity, not only for BAME artists but artists with disability this should include a number of lead roles. For off screen it must be a minimum spend on programmes produced by diverse staff including staff with disability in key roles or with a specified percentage of bame/diverse and disabled staff making programmes of editorial responsibility.

We hope you take this on board.

Best wishes
