Question 1: Do you agree that Ofcom should not impose any new coverage obligations on the national radio multiplex licensees as part of licence renewal or require a new technical plan?	Confidential? N Yes, we agree fully with this statement. On the matter of build out plans, it would be in all best interests for a prior consultation between mux operator and service providers (with full transparency on additional costs and where they will be levied), ideally with a pre-determined percentage threshold of agreement from providers, prior to build out commencement.
