Your response

Do you agree that Ofcom should give its consent to the reductions in AM (medium wave) transmitter coverage proposed by Absolute Radio? If you do not agree, please give reasons.

No. Already difficult to receive Absolute Radio just now on AM, the method I use to listen to the station. D1 National DAB is not available in my area, and I only receive a relay Freeview tv service. I live in a semi-rural area, and internet streaming is not always possible due to low internet speeds. Therefore, the AM service is the only method of listening to Absolute Radio that I have available to me.
