Question 1: Do you agree with Ofcom's proposal to vary the licences as requested? If not, please explain why you think it would not be appropriate to vary the licences.	Yes
Q2 - Do you have any other comments on the assessment or the factors considered as part of the assessment?	A consideration of typical distances required to remain within SAR limits for multiple operators in multiple bands on typical towers should be considered. It seems that the EIRP is unlimited and the only restriction is of total radiated power (TRP). I suspect that defence of unrestricted EIRP in the safety lobby should not be allowed. It also makes the tower safety owner have a difficult problem collecting all of the inputs from all of the operators.
Q3 - Do you have any comments on the technical changes?	UKWISPA agrees with the main technical changes. In particular the 35dBm/5MHz EIRP for Fixed or installed terminal stations.
