

I was disappointed to hear of the plans to reduce the number of hours of news programming on CBBC and wanted to share my experiences with you.

My nine year-old daughter will regularly chirp up with an interesting fact or opinion about UK and world news and current affairs. I will ask, surprised, "Did you learn that at school?" and she will reply, "Nope, I saw it on Newsround."

Yes, she does consume digital media, but it's mainly American Youtube videos about how to make sparkly slime. She doesn't listen to the radio and doesn't watch much mainstream TV.

I'm afraid she will miss out if there are less hours of Newsround on CCBC.
