

Question	Your response
Question 1: Because the BBC’s proposal involves the introduction of a new public service channel, we do not consider that further analysis is required to determine materiality. If you disagree, please explain why you consider the BBC’s published proposals are not material.	Agree with the BBC’s Proposal does not need Further analysis to determine materiality.
Question 2: Do you consider that the BBC’s published proposals are clear in relation to their scale (both in terms of financial resource and in terms of reach and type of content) and the timescales for implementation? If not, please provide details of the areas where you feel more clarity is required.	[&times;]
Question 3: Did the BBC’s consultation process provide a suitable opportunity for you to set out your views fully? If not, please provide details.	I am critical of the BBC consultation process and believe this should have been featured on their news programmes.
Question 4: Please explain whether you consider Ofcom should undertake a BCA or a Shorter Assessment of the BBC’s proposal.	I consider Ofcom should undertake a Shorter Assessment of the BBC Proposal.
Question 5: Do you agree with the BBC’s assessment in its public interest test about the potential public value and/or market impact of the proposal? Please provide any additional information you may have to explain your view.	BBC “Auntie Knows Best”, I am confident Tim Davie and BBC Board Richard Sharpe are competent to create Public value.
Question 6: Does this proposal highlight any significant market impact concerns which might affect your products and services? Please provide any additional information you may have to explain how you consider the launch of BBC Three television channel could affect you if it goes ahead.	I would ask the BBC iPlayer Team and BBC Producers to ensure constant programming schedule is in place on all channels and unlike BBC 4 which shows a slide with “off air” today, However overall I welcome the Launch of Channel 3 and wish the BBC and all Licence Payers the best of luck as we look forward to a relaunch of BBC and excellent programming as the iPlayer Team, BBC News Team and all creative programming are First Class and I can’t wait for BBC 3 to be relaunched. Thank you Auntie!
