

I have no problem with the radio station being able to decide what a local based news station needs to offer its community.

A great listening experience, local people interviewing local businesses, with travel and news being of an international and local perspective. The varied music content appeals to all ages and genders. I am a huge fan of the present radio format and wish them to carry on being an essential part of local life.