

I do not want the scheme and will not be participating as I don't want my post left at my neighbours who I don't know and also i don't want to be taking other people's post in which if I am at home a lot I could be if my neighbours are all at work. What if there is a dispute and they say they never had it or they say i took their item. I don't want to sign for other people's post thank you either.
