

Question 1: Do you agree that Ofcom should grant approval to Royal Mail for the Delivery to Neighbour service? If not please explain your answer. :

No. Delivery of confidential correspondence should not be delivered to anyone - except the correct house number, for which it is addressed to. There would be no guarantee that the owner of the mail would ever see it again, or that you could rely on someone else doing Royal Mails job, the public are not responsible for delivering mail.

Royal Mail loose enough mail as it is, infact they have worse figures than last year. they need to concentrate on improving on these figures, and not using the public as a cost cutting excuse.

Question 2: Are there other consequences following the roll out of the service across the UK that we have not included in our assessment? If so, please explain.:
