

Additional comments:

My neighbours are foreign short term renters, I don't know them, so I can't trust them.
It is unfair that I would be expected to display a notice that neighbours would realise means I don't trust you and could result in personal abuse or damage to my property.
Such a scheme should be opt in between willing neighbours.
I also think because the quality of Royal Mail service in my area has dropped in recent years, some postmen will take advantage and quietly slip a 'you were out card' through the letterbox to save them carrying parcels into flats etc.

Question 1:Do you agree that Ofcom should grant approval to Royal Mail for the Delivery to Neighbour service? If not please explain your answer. :

absolutly NOT

My neighbours are foreign short term renters, I don't know them, so I can't trust them.
Such a scheme should be opt in between willing neighbours.
I think, because the quality of Royal Mail service in my area has dropped in recent years, some postmen will take advantage and quietly slip a pre-prepared 'you were out card' through the letterbox to save them carrying parcels into flats etc.

Question 2:Are there other consequences following the roll out of the service across the UK that we have not included in our assessment? If so, please explain.:

It is unfair to require customers to display a notice that neighbours would realise means I don't trust you and could result in personal abuse or damage to property.
I think, because the quality of Royal Mail service has dropped in recent years, some postmen will take advantage and quietly slip a pre-prepared 'you were out card' through the letterbox to save them carrying parcels into flats etc.
Some frail old people may suffer considerable anxiety over taking responsibility over other peoples parcels.
What if the intended recipient is away for a long time or has moved ?
Or a practical joke or much worse?
When we use the post we want it to be as safe as possible.

Question 3:Do you have any comments on the scope and wording of the proposed Notification and approval:

The notice should say 'Parcels can be delivered to ~~~ if I am not available'