

Question 1:Do you agree that Ofcom should grant approval to Royal Mail for the Delivery to Neighbour service? If not please explain your answer. :

No, I do not agree.

I do not want mail of any description left with a neighbour.

I have previously had parcels left in that way by couriers (without permission) and it was very inconvenient. Who pays if the neighbour damages the goods?

Likewise I do not want to be pestered to take other peoples mail - that is just as bad, I've done it with parcels before but no more. You get no thanks, usually after numerous time wasting visits to deliver it.

Question 2:Are there other consequences following the roll out of the service across the UK that we have not included in our assessment? If so, please explain.:

I believe the system is not legal - the addressee is the sole address to which mail should be delivered.

Question 3:Do you have any comments on the scope and wording of the proposed Notification and approval:

I do not see why we should have to opt out of this system - it should be opt in. I see no reason why I should have to order a sticker for my letterbox.

I will not be doing so and I shall tell the postie to politely go away and not pester me again with such requests.

If my mail is sent to a neighbour I will tell the neighbour to desist from taking it and raise a complaint with the local sorting office.
