Question 1:Do you agree that Ofcom should grant approval to Royal Mail for the Delivery to Neighbour service? If not please explain your answer. :

No.

I live in an urban area and work during the day in an office.

If this service let me nominate someone (i.e. opt-in) it would be reasonable.

To make this an opt-out service means that I have to place a "I don't trust my neighbours" notice on my letterbox to stop RM from delivering my post to whoever is most convient to them.

Also, if my notice were to go missing the default should not be to deliver to someone else.

Question 2:Are there other consequences following the roll out of the service across the UK that we have not included in our assessment? If so, please explain.:

Potential stigma of opting out would reduce the number of people who take this option.

Question 3:Do you have any comments on the scope and wording of the proposed Notification and approval:

No
