

Notice of Ofcom's proposals for changes to the licence exemption of Wireless Telegraphy Devices-Corrigendum

Corrigendum

- 1.1 On 20 October 2011, Ofcom published its notice of proposals to make the Wireless Telegraphy (Exemption) (Amendment) Regulations 2011, the Wireless Telegraphy (Exemption and Amendment) (No.2) Regulations 2011 and the Wireless Telegraphy (Intelligent Transport Systems) (Exemption) Regulations 2011. The Notice is available at <http://stakeholders.ofcom.org.uk/binaries/consultations/notice-wireless-telegraphy/summary/main.pdf>
- 1.2 The third sentence of paragraph 2.68 of the Notice incorrectly states that transposition into UK law of the European Decision will require Ofcom to vary the mobile network licences. We would like to clarify that transposition of the Decision does not automatically require us to do this; Ofcom has a power to decide to vary existing mobile network licences to allow the deployment of LTE and/or WIMAX systems, and has as yet made no decision about whether or when it might do so.
