

I do not consider that North Devon is ready yet for Digital Radio. In an area of low income, the switching off of the FM transmitters would disenfranchise a large portion from being able to receive local radio, which by definition is for the local people. By all means run digital radio as well as FM, but not as a replacement

Regards