Question 1: Are there any reasonable grounds why Ofcom should not grant the request to vary the five Wireless Telegraphy Third Generation Mobile Licences by increasing the permitted maximum in-band EIRP to 68dBm as soon as practicable? If so, please explain your reasoning for this:

I think the issue power of phone mast signals has gone far enough. There is a general perception of a health hazard. I believe the onus should be on the phone companies to prove it is safe, not for others to prove it isn't. I do not feel that they have proved it to be safe.

Question 2: Are there any reasonable grounds why Ofcom should not also apply the increased permitted maximum in-band EIRP to future 2 GHz MSS/CGC licences? If so, please explain your reasoning for this:

As above
