Question 1: Do you agree with Ofcom's proposal to license digital self helps for areas currently served by a self help relay, and how we propose to make available licences? If not, please give your reasons.:

No. I think that all areas should be sorted out by the Broadcasting corporations before they are given licences. We pay a fee each year to the BBC and an addition fee to the self help - the BBC is currently not doing much to warrant this fee. Surely the British Broadcasting Corporation should broadcasty to the whole of Britain.

Question 2: Do you agree with Ofcom?s proposal to license digital self helps for areas not currently served by a self help relay, and how we propose to make available licences? If not, please give your reasons.:

N/A

Question 3: Do you agree with how Ofcom proposes to deal with the frequency planning for self help relays? If not, please give your reasons.:

No - I think that frequency planning should be done now. I cant think that many areas will not be wanting to continue receiving broadcasts and these issues could be sorted out now. If any areas cannot receive adequate coverage then the scheme should be delayed until problems are ironed out.

Question 4: Do you agree with Ofcom?s proposed fee for WTA licences for self help relays? If not, please give your reasons.:

Again - I think this should be sorted out by broadcasters. Its 2007 - I grew up in Africa in the 60's and things here seem to be going back to those days.
