

Question 1: Do you agree with Ofcom's proposal to exempt users of Citizen's Band (CB) radio (and other related applications such as Community Audio Distribution) from the need to possess a Wireless Telegraphy Licence.:

Question 2: Do you agree with Ofcom's proposals to permit the use of 'Micro' FM transmitters in the UK, and to authorise that use by licence exemption.: Absolutely. While I'm not of the opinion that fairly widespread use of an illegal gadget constitutes a case for legality, there are other issues to consider. I lived in the US for a number of years, and gadgets like the iTrip were commonplace. In all my time there I never heard of any cases of interference with FM radios, and I watch the Mac accessory market very closely. I feel the present position is over heavy-handed and almost impossible to enforce. Given the usefulness of these devices, I think it would be a wise step to legitimise them as soon as practical so as to open up opportunities for British companies who wish to deal in these devices legally.
