Your response

- Question 1: Do you agree with the proposed changes to the Ofcom Broadcasting Code in relation to our application of the Code to regulate the content standards on BBC broadcasting services? If not, please explain why.:

Yes, but we think that the Ofcom Broadcasting Code Guidance Notes on Section 2 should also be amended to clarify with regard to Rule 2.2 that particular care must be taken to avoid materially misleading content which might encourage racism of any kind; and that content which is materially misleading will be presumed to be harmful where content relating to the same or a similar subject has in the past been associated with an increase in racist incidents, unless the contrary is proved.
- Question 2: Do you agree with the proposed changes to the Ofcom Broadcasting Code in relation to our application of the Code to regulate content standards on BBC On Demand Programmes Services? If not, please explain why.:

- Question 3: Do you agree with the proposal to include the rules for on demand programme services? Do you think the other changes are helpful and make clear the full range of Ofcom's regulatory responsibilities? If not, please explain why.: Yes
